William Peter Moseley (born 27 April 1987)^[1] is an English actor, best known for his roles as Peter Pevensie in the film series The Chronicles of Narnia^{[2][3]} and Prince Liam in the E! original series The Royals.

Early life

Moseley was born in the Cotswolds village of Sheepscombe, Gloucestershire, England.^[4] He is the son of Juliette E. (née Fleming) and Peter A. Moseley, a cinematographer.^{[2][4]} Moseley is the eldest of three children; his siblings are Daisy Elizabeth Moseley (born 1989) and Benjamin Hugh Moseley (born 1992). Moseley attended Sheepscombe Primary School from September 1991 to July 1998, in which year he appeared as an un-named boy in Cider with Rosie. Moseley then continued his education at Wycliffe College. He took time off often at Downfield Sixth Form, Stroud (which is part of Marling School and its next door neighbour, Stroud High School), because he was filming The Chronicles of Narnia: The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe; however, he still achieved well and finished on time.

Career

Casting director Pippa Hall was responsible for casting Moseley as an extra when she was filling roles for Cider with Rosie (TV) back in 1998, when he was 11 years old.^{[2][4]} Several years later, when casting for The Chronicles of Narnia: The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe in 2005, she remembered him and recommended him for the role of Peter.^[2] From the first day of auditioning for the role of Peter Pevensie in The Chronicles of Narnia: The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe, it took a further eighteen months before Moseley officially won the role and was cast.^[4]

Moseley reprised the role of Peter in the 2008 sequel, The Chronicles of Narnia: Prince Caspian,^{[4][5]} and made a cameo appearance as Peter in The Chronicles of Narnia: The Voyage of the Dawn Treader, despite his character's absence from the book on which the film is based.^[6]
